These sessions have been designed to meet the National Curriculum and cover key concepts such as the story of Bournville, Bournville at war and Suffragettes and Bournville. For more information on these sessions and assemblies, please see the information below.

key stage 3/4

The Story of Bournville

This session is designed to meet elements of the National History Curriculum including KS3- a Local history study.

Outreach Session

Our Bournville themed sessions uncover the important role that George Cadbury had in developing the garden village of Bournville. Students will have the opportunity to find out how George Cadbury developed the village of Bournville and explore his motivations for building the village.

Students will have the opportunity to watch our Bournville film, take part in activities which help them understand the Quaker values, compare and contrast Bournville of today and Bournville of the past and handle authentic Bournville objects.

Assembly

Our assembly is designed to tell the story of the Cadbury Brothers and their motivations for building the village of Bournville. Students will have the opportunity to watch our Bournville film and discover how the Quaker values inspired the decisions that the two brothers made when creating the village.

key stage 3/4

Suffragettes and Bournville

This session is designed to meet elements of the National History Curriculum including KS3- Challenges for Britain, Europe and the wider world 1901 to the present day- Women's suffrage.

Outreach session

Within this fascinating and engaging session, students will explore the cause of women's suffrage through two local case studies, Julia Varley and Mary Sargent Florence.

Students will also have the opportunity to identify and compare the differences between suffragettes and Suffragists, describe the actions of local suffrage activists and understand the impact of the world war on the suffrage campaign and the work of local activists.

Activities during this session include exploring and interpreting primary and secondary resources to create an argument as to whose opinion they agree with and then presenting their argument to each other.

Assembly

Our assembly is designed to explain the difference between suffragettes and suffragists and hear about two local case studies, Julia Varley and Mary Sargent Florence. Students will have the opportunity to see examples of banners and posters and will be encouraged to question what causes they might want to be activists for today.

key stage 3/4

Bournville at War

This session is designed to meet elements of the National History Curriculum including KS3 challenges for Britain, Europe and the wider world 1901 to the present day: The First World War and the Peace Settlement and the Second World War and the wartime leadership of Winston Churchill.

Outreach

In this captivating session, students will explore the moral dilemmas faced by Pacifist Quakers connected to Bournville during the World Wars. Through compelling case studies, Students will also understand that Quakers are pacifists and understand what it means to be a pacifist. They will also be able to delve into the personal challenges these individuals encountered and have the opportunity to reflect on and form their own perspectives on the most ethical responses for Quaker pacifists during these difficult times.

Activities during this session will include watching short video clips, examining local case studies and investigating the different viewpoints, before going on to form their own opinions and feeding back their ideas to each other.

Assembly

Our assembly is designed to explain Quaker values and pacifism. It will also introduce some of the members of the Cadbury Family and some other significant names of people linked to Bournville at war such as, the Cadbury Angels and Bertha Bracey and explain their viewpoints during the World Wars. Students will be encouraged to question who they thought made the right decision in line with Quaker pacifist values.

Practicalities

Our classroom sessions are best suited for one class of students containing no more than 35 pupils. We are happy to run multiple sessions in a day. We will be very happy to discuss your school's specific needs with teachers before the visit. We aim for all our sessions to be tailor-made to suit you. Our assemblies can be delivered for whole year groups.

Cost

Our classroom sessions are designed to last up 90 minutes at a cost of £150 for each session of up to 35 children. Similarly, our assemblies are designed to last up to 60 minutes at a cost of £150 per assembly. However, we are flexible to the needs of your school, so do enquire with us about how we can make our sessions work within your timetables. We do also charge a small fee for our staff's travel expenses which is 60p/mile from Selly Manor Museum to your school.

Cancellation

If for whatever reason you are forced to cancel, where possible we will rearrange your booking for an alternative date. We do require 5 working days' notice on all cancellations, failure to do so will result in the full cost being charged.
